DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(c), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(c) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 11/25/08 has been entered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1, 2, 5-7, 9-17, 19-22, 24-28, 30-34, and 36-38 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Purcell et al (5,598,514) in view of Nishino et al (5,237,424) for the same reasons as set forth in Section 4 of the previous office action, dated 4/1/08.

5. Claim 18 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Purcell et al in view of Nishino et al for the same reasons as set forth in Section 11 of the previous office action, dated 7/31/07.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments filed 11/25/08 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Regarding applicant's argument on pages 8-9 of the Remarks that Purcell et al fails to disclose storing YUV 4:2:0 in an interleaved format, it was clearly stated in the previous office action that Purcell et al discloses the common concept of YUV 4:2:0 interleaved format. It is true that Purcell et al does not particularly disclose any examples of storing the data in an interleaved format as that claimed by the Applicant. However, examiner does not rely on Purcell et al to teach such capabilities because they are already taught in Nishino et al. With the combined teachings of Purcell et al and Nishino et al, it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made, to modify the video data processing method of Purcell et al to be able to not only store video data in YUV 4:2:2 format but also other compatible formats such as YUV 4:2:0 by simply utilizing a shuffling technique to interleave the luminance and chrominance data as specified in claims 1, 2, 5-7, 9-22, 24-28, 30-34, and 36-38. With an upgraded video data processing method, one of ordinary skill in the art would have had no difficulty in applying subsequent data storing method in any storage means, as illustrated in Figure 2 of Purcell et al, since video data storage is a necessary and well known technique for many compression methods.

7. In response to applicant's argument on pages 9-11 of the Remarks that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., a complete scan line of luminance data is to follow by a complete scan line of chrominance data; interleaving of samples; and storage of video frames within a video encoder or video decoder) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993).

Conclusion

8. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the application prior to the entry of the submission under 37 CFR 1.114 and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the application prior to entry under 37 CFR 1.114. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action after the filing of a request for continued examination and the submission under 37 CFR 1.114. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
